

Sustainable Fuels from Marine Biomass An Interreg IVA Project

BioMara will host a public meeting in Lews Castle College on the afternoon of the 3rd September 2010. The meeting give a general view of the project followed by presentations on the biofuel potential of both seaweeds and microalgae and on how this type of technology might be used to generate energy on the Western Isles.

- 13.30-13.45pm- Introduction to BioMara- Dr Michele Stanley (SAMS)
- 13.45-14.00pm- Microalgae techno-economics- Prof Neil Hewitt(University of Ulster)
- 14.00- 14.15pm- Macroalgae & AD – Dr Paul MacArtain (CREDIT, Dundalk)

- This will be followed by 15 min of Q&A
- 14.30pm coffee break
- 15.00pm- Chaired Discussion
- 16.00pm Summary and meeting close.

